Join Us on Monday, March 31st for Rapid Response's Empower Hour on the NLRB!

As you may recall from a February Info Alert (usw.to/5an), the Administration fired National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) Member Gwynne Wilcox without cause, leaving the NLRB unable to fully function in enforcing labor laws. However, on March 6, a federal judge ruled (usw.to/5ao) the firing illegal and reinstated Ms. Wilcox to the Board. While this ruling is a major victory for workers, the fight isn't over as the Administration has already appealed the decision.

So what happens next? Why does the NLRB matter so much to workers? How could this impact our rights on the job? Join us for an Empower Hour to discuss what's at stake and what to expect next!
